LOVE IS NOT JUST A FEELING.

Love is a whole human bonding system.

It can include attachment, caregiving, desire, emotional support, and social connection.

Your brain and body participate through reward, motivation, and bonding systems.

Your culture shapes how love is expressed, expected, and valued.

Your relationships shape your wellbeing.

Supportive love is linked with better mental health, lower stress, and improved physical health outcomes.

Love grows through practice: care, commitment, safety, respect, and connection.

Memory Sentence(TM)

Love is both a biological bond and a relationship practice.
